Angela Orr, formerly Angela McGarrigle, owner of Good For All Pharmacy in East Waterboro, has been named to the Board of Directors of Hospice of Southern Maine. Orr is excited about the opportunity to serve this organization whose mission is to provide, "Compassion, care and comfort through end of life" for patients and their families.

Orr, who lives in North Waterboro, sees herself bringing an inland perspective to the Board. "Most of the directors come from coastal communities, and I hope to provide a different experience and perspective." Orr was nominated by Gayle Brazeau, Dean of the College of Pharmacy at the University of New England, where Orr serves on the Dean's Advisory Council.

Hospice of Southern Maine, a 501(c) (3) nonprofit organization was founded when Hope Garden of York County and Horizon House of Cumberland County merged in 2004. Their vision was to create comprehensive end-of-life care, and to expand services through building and staffing an inpatient hospice facility. Today, the Gosnell Memorial Hospice

House in Scarborough is not a hospital, nursing home or rehabilitation center. It is a comforting, homelike atmosphere where those nearing the end of life and their loved ones can share time together while symptoms are being managed by experts. Gosnell House is the first free-standing comprehensive Medicare certified hospice program in Maine, entirely devoted to the single mission of providing needed end-of-life care.

Orr has a forty-year history with hospice services, starting when her 13-year old brother became the first pediatric hospice patient in Rhode Island. He had been diagnosed with terminal bone cancer, and in trying to care for him, Orr's mother fell on the stairs and broke both arms. Their situation came to the attention of hospice workers and the decision was made to expand hospice offerings to young patients close to the end of life and their families. With the help of hospice, he was able to realize his wish to die at home with his family.

Orr herself moved from recipient to provider of hospice care as a home health aide volunteer with hospice services in Dallas, Texas—some years later. Then, recently,

Foreclosure notices

Town Administrator Gary Lamb announced at Tuesday's Select Board meeting that 99 foreclosure notices were mailed out last week. Anyone receiving this notice is asked to come in to talk to Lamb about what they owe. These notices tell the homeowner they owe a full three years of back taxes. If anyone cannot pay off the entire three year amount, but makes full payment on the oldest bill, they will get another year before receiving another foreclosure notice.

Anyone who lets their property go to the state imposed foreclosure deadline of Feb. 19, 2016, will have ownership automatically transferred to the town on Feb. 20. After Feb. 20, they can regain title to the property but must pay all three years' taxes and any other associated fees all at once. Lamb also commented; "The town is not interested in being in the real estate business."

Waterboro gets two deputy CEOs

Select Board members voted Tuesday evening to name two deputy Code Enforcement Officers and Building Inspectors to cover sick and vacation time. They named Patty McKenna, CEO in Lyman and former CEO in Waterboro, and Jim Allaire, CEO in Alfred to the positions.

Contract deputy to be discussed

Upon recommendation of the Waterboro Public Safety Committee and the Town Administrator, there will be a workshop to discuss the hiring of a second contract deputy to cover Waterboro on Thursday Feb. 11. The workshop will occur at the regular meeting of the Budget Committee in the Annex meeting room.

Vote in playground sweepstakes

The Waterboro Elementary School PTO has been fundraising for a new playground for some time, and has now entered the "Healthy Playground Makeover" sweepstakes presented by the Together Counts Program. The Together Counts program is a nationwide program inspiring active and healthy living. The Healthy Weight Commitment Foundation, a national, multi-year effort designed to help reduce obesity, especially childhood obesity, started Together Counts.

Anyone in the community can enter on behalf of WES. Once you register and enter you can vote every day until March 25. The grand prize is $30,000 in prizes for the school's wellness program and a new playground from Playworld. There is a link to the entry page on the Waterboro Elementary School PTO Facebook page.

The next PTO movie night features Hotel Transylvania 2 on Feb. 5. Doors open at 6 p.m. and the movie starts at 6:30 p.m. Admission is $2 per family and snacks will be available for fifty cents.

The scrapbook crop event is Feb. 6 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Space is still available.

New board games group at library

The new Board Games Night will take place the second Tuesday of each month from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Waterboro Public Library. It is for ages 10 and up and interested adults are invited. The next session will take place on Tuesday Feb. 9.

Dave Cousineau led a game group a few years ago, when his son was younger, and now that he is older, Dave would like to target families with children of different ages. He says that basic games have evolved into much more complex games that are interesting for players of all ages. Cousineau believes that such games help players learn how to compete, but they can also provide cooperative experiences. Sometimes the game tries to defeat the players, so players must cooperate and use teamwork to defeat the game. Cousineau will bring games featuring a variety of themes to appeal to adults as well as young people. Examples of themes include building railroads, building an automobile or underwater exploration. Cousineau sees this niche hobby as a way to keep the tradition of game playing, but in a more modern interpretation. Games will be provided and participants are invited to bring their own.

Patron appreciation

The library will hold its annual "Patron Appreciation Week" the week of Feb. 6. It will be a busy week with the new Board Game night on Tuesday, the Adult Coloring night on Thursday, the new LEGO group on Friday and Valentine card making all week. Chocolate and some other treats will be available for patrons during the week along with crafts for the kids.

Crafts at the library during school vacation

The library will be closed on Monday, Feb. 15 for President's Day. That week is also school vacation week so crafts will be offered for the children on open days.

POLICE NOTES

Auto parts fraud

On Friday, Jan. 22 York County Sheriff's Deputies arrested Scott T. Depeter, 43, of Waterboro for alleged Theft by Deception, a Class E Crime. Depeter owns Airport Auto Body on Maine Street in Waterboro and sells automobile parts.

A man from Illinois contacted the sheriff's office and reported that he purchased $300 worth of auto parts from Depeter, after answering an ad on Craig's List. Waterboro Contract Deputy Shawn Sanborn launched an investigation, collecting numerous text messages from the victim and affirmation that a wire transfer of $300 was made for the purchase of auto parts. According to the police report, Depeter did not send the parts to Illinois.

Scott T. Depeter

Depeter was booked into the York County Jail and posted a $350 bail. Depeter is scheduled to appear in court on April 26.

STATE NEWS

IFW Captures and Collars 70 Moose

Expands Maine's Moose Survival Study Into Second Area

The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife biologists in northern Aroostook County just finished capturing and radio-collaring moose in a new "northern" study area as part of Maine's five-year moose study that will provide a greater understanding of the health of Maine's moose population, particularly factors that affect their survival and birth rates, including the impact of winter ticks on moose.

"Maine's moose occupy a variety of habitat across their range in the state. By adding a second study area to the north we can bolster our study and get a better understanding of moose survival and reproductive rates, and the factors that impact them," said Lee Kantar, Maine's moose biologist.

Biologists and a helicopter-based aerial capture team will capture and collar 106 adult female and calf moose. They just completed capturing and collaring 70 moose in the Aroostook study area, and now will capture and collar an additional 36 calf moose in the existing study area located between Jackman and Greenville. There already are over 40 collared moose in the Jackman/Greenville study area. When finished, IFW biologists will be able to monitor 150 total moose in the two study areas.

IFW has contracted with Native Range Capture Services out of Elko, Nevada to capture 106 moose. The crew specializes in capturing and collaring large animals and is using a helicopter and launched nets to capture and collar female moose and calves. Funding for the study comes from a federal Pittman-Robertson grant (funded by the sale of hunting equipment) and the state's dedicated moose fund (funded through sale of moose permit applications and permits).

"Once the moose is captured, the crew attaches a GPS collar and ear tags, collects a blood, hair and fecal sample, takes a tick count and weighs the animal," said Lee Kantar, "The entire process takes between 10 and 12 minutes and then the moose is released unharmed."

Crews started capturing and collaring moose last week and finished in the northern study area yesterday. They started flying in the western study area today. Once Native Range finishes in Maine, they will travel to a similar job in New Hampshire. New Hampshire is conducting a study similar to Maine, in an area further south than the two Maine study areas. The two states are sharing information gathered during the study.

Once collared, the GPS-enabled collars transmit twice per day, providing biologists the ability to track moose movements. The GPS collars are expected to transmit location signals for four years. If there is no movement for a certain period of time, the collar transmits a mortality signal, and biologists will then travel overland to investigate the cause of death.

"Once we receive a mortality signal, we locate the dead moose within 24 hours," said Kantar. Biologists conduct an extensive field necropsy on each moose, taking blood, tissue and fecal samples that will later be analyzed by the University of Maine-Animal Health Lab as well as other specialized diagnostic facilities.

This is the third year of the monitoring study. Additional moose and calves will be captured and collared next year.

The radio collar study is just one component of the research that IFW conducts on moose.

IFW also utilizes aerial flights to assess population abundance and the composition of the moose herd. During the moose hunting season, biologists also examine teeth to determine a moose's age, measure antler spread, monitor the number of ticks a moose carries, and examine cow ovaries in November to determine reproductive rates.

HOSPICE BOARD

her mother was dealing with the complications of a series of mini strokes and severe rheumatoid arthritis, each of which negated the possibility of medications for the other. Through in-home hospice service, her mother was able to realize her wish of living her last days pain-free, at home, with compassionate, expert care.

Noting that Mainer's can be very independent and be shy of asking for help, Orr hopes to be able to clear up any misunderstandings that local families have about how hospice care works. Each of these personal experiences has convinced Orr that reaching out to hospice does not at all mean giving up control, but just the opposite. She knows that hospice staffers help families to know all of their options and support them in setting their own plan. Patient/families admitted to the hospice program have options to receive care at home, in an assisted living facility, long-term care facility, hospital, or the Gosnell Memorial Hospice House, based on their needs as identified by the Hospice Interdisciplinary Team. "Hospice helps families to know they did everything they could for their loved one, and that they lived out their end-of-life as they wished," says Orr.

As a Board member, Orr hopes to bring her experience as a business owner to the organization. She plans to do community outreach, aid in fundraising and promote the events that bring in the financial support that makes it possible for Hospice of Southern Maine to provide services to families regardless of their ability to pay. A major goal for Orr is to promote local awareness of the services and options that are available through Hospice of Southern Maine.

Orr has found working with the College of Pharmacy's Dean's Advisory Council to grow the pharmaceutical profession very rewarding, and she hopes to bring that same enthusiasm to her work with the Hospice of Southern Maine's Board of Directors. She is also a member of the Maine Pharmacy Association and the National Association for Professional Women.

Nomination forms available for 2016 state candidates

Petition forms are now available for Maine residents who plan to run for federal, state or county public office in 2016, including current office-holders who will seek re-election.

Per the provisions of the Maine election laws, prospective candidates can begin collecting signatures on Friday, Jan. 1, 2016. Through this petition process, candidates qualify to have their names placed on the ballot for either the primary election or general election.

Members of the Democratic, Republican or Green Independent parties seeking their party's nomination must submit their completed petition forms to the office of the Secretary of State by March 15, 2016. The primary election takes place on June 14, 2016.

Non-party candidates must submit their completed petition forms to the appropriate municipality for certification by May 25. The forms must then be delivered to the office of the Secretary of State no later than June 1, 2016.

The general election will take place on Nov. 8, 2016. Maine voters will be electing two representatives to the U.S. House of Representatives, all state senators and representatives, and several county officers such as judges of probate, sheriffs and district attorneys.

The Elections Division within the Maine Department of the Secretary of State provides nomination petition forms to candidates at its office in the Burton M. Cross State Office Building, 4th floor, 111 Sewall Street, Augusta.

The number of signatures required varies depending on the office and whether the candidate is affiliated with a party. The Candidate's Guide to Ballot Access, which includes complete instructions for completing and circulating nomination petitions, is now available on the Maine Department of the Secretary of State website.

Bringing nature home

Do you keep your lawn mowed? Is that good or bad?

Eric Topper, Director of Education for Maine Audubon, spoke on the efforts and goals of Maine Audubon in “bringing nature home” during a presentation this past Tuesday in Town Hall. Although generations of homeowners have carefully kept lawns mowed and weeds (which may be wildflowers) out of lawns and gardens, this approach may affect wildlife more than we imagine. Many homes include bird feeders – but are the feeders supplying what the fledgling birds need?

He mentioned a Portland school which has been focusing on a landscape beneficial to birds. Only the landscape needed for sports is mowed; there is a rooftop garden; a source of water is provided and a bat house. There is a butterfly garden and native plants are encouraged. Invasive species are removed.

These are the activities encouraged by Maine Audubon. He sees a four pronged approach to local habitat restoration – education, stewardship, citizen compliance and advocacy. These will help us restore our natural landscapes. So perhaps keeping the lawn mowed isn’t as important as we once thought.

The second activity in this conservation series will be a tracking walk led by Connie Studer on Saturday, Feb. 20 at 10 a.m. Participants (properly bundled up) will meet at the Ida Jim Road in Massabesic Forest. Studer, of White Pine Programs, will help the “trackers” identify who last traveled under the trees, and what they were doing, by examining the size, shape and pattern of the tracks.

She will also share some of her tracking misadventures.

The last activity in this series will be a bird house or bat house construction project. It will be held upstairs in Town Hall on Tuesday, March 22 at 6:30. The workshop will include learning about local pollinators from the Alfred Conservation Commission. There will be no charge for materials.

Mardi Gras at church

The annual meeting of the Alfred Parish Church will be held with a Mardi Gras theme on Sunday, Feb. 7 during the service. Following the service the theme will be carried out during the annual meeting with a meal which includes some traditional Mardi Gras foods and music.

Student essay contest

The Friends of the Alfred Shaker Museum (FASM) for the 6th year are inviting students to learn and write about local Shaker history. The annual contest is open to students in 7th to 10th grades and cash prizes will be awarded in two divisions: the two younger grades and the two higher grades.

Interested students are invited to choose among topics the museum lists on its web site where instructions are offered at <http://www.alfredshakermuseum.com/2016/01/09/2016-fasm-student-essay-contest/>. Contest essays must be submitted through the web site by midnight on March 1. Two prizes – of $100 and $75 – will be given in each division at the discretion of the judges. The winners will be announced in early April and an award ceremony will take place in mid-May at the opening day of the museum for the new summer season when the winners will read their essays.

The judges in the contest will be Alfred Carlson, Elizabeth DeWolfe and Harland Eastman.

“We are pleased to encourage students to develop their writing skills and to stimulate their interest in local history,” states Mary Lee Dunn Maguire of FASM’s Education Committee.

Village notes

The Massabesic Lions Club members will be making up their chocolate collections for Valentine’s Day. Those interested in presenting a box to their favorite Valentine may contact Marge Kiley, 247-5213. They will be putting the boxes together and out selling very soon.

The Alfred Historical Committee met this past week to plan the inventory review and to give values on the museum contents for insurance purposes. Members plan on starting the work in March.

All smiles!

The Brownie Girl Scout Troop #1477 visited to Village Smiles on Main Street in Limerick on Jan. 25 to meet with owner, Teresa Crandall. The troop learned about oral health care, went on a tour of her dentist office, and helped her fill plastic drink bottles with their sugar content for a display she needed. In February (Oral Health Month), Crandall will be going to local schools to talk with students about the importance of oral health care and use these bottles to talk with classes about the effects of sugar on their teeth and making healthy choices. Each bottle has the number of teaspoons of sugar written on masking tape on each bottle. Front row from left, Abigail, Leah, Brianna, Sasha and Delaney. MOB hockey's defenseman Brandon Caron vs. Noble/Wells on Jan. 23 at USM. COURTESY PHOTO

ICE HOCKEY MOB controlled Quick start paces Noble/Wells win

Noble/Wells jumped out to a 3-0 lead and held off MOB (Massabesic/Old Orchard/Bonny Eagle) hockey the rest of the way to post a hard fought 6-4 win on Saturday, Jan. 23 at USM.

MOB (5-7) got on the board in the middle period, trailing 3-0 at the time, on a score from Cam Roy, but Evan Whitten quickly bumped the lead back to three with his third goal of the night. Roy cut the lead back to a two goal deficit at 4-2 with another score (both Roy goals were assisted by Tanner McClure and Chandler Douston) before the second period came to an end.

Noble/Wells took thoughts of a comeback off the table with the first two goals of the third, Whitten adding a fourth to push the lead to 6-2, but MOB didn't quit despite the big hole it had dug.

Brandon Caron made it 6-3, Tyler Ouellette assisting, and Spencer Shields made it a two goal game at 6-4 (Douston's third assist), with still half the third period remaining to play. Noble/Wells (3-7) goalie Matt Burnham turned aside seven third period shots to secure the win.

Kyle McKay was busy in goal for MOB, making 35 saves.

SWIMMING

Pool crew sweeps Portland

The Bulldogs won six of 11 events, but the lady Mustangs again showed their team depth and they came away with a 105-52 victory in the pool over Portland on Friday, Jan. 22.

Elaine Dudley was part of four wins. She swam to victory in the 200IM with a time of 2:20.39 and her 1:04.64 in the 100 backstroke was best. She joined sister Amanda, Joanna LaFrance (first in the 100 breaststroke) and Sophia LaFrance on the 200 medley relay team that won gold with a 2:06.16. The Dudley's were also on the 200 freestyle relay team that was first along with Autumn Nostrum and Abigail Darling.

Amanda Dudley picked up a win in her solo event: the 100 fly.

The Mustangs men pulled out slim 83-76 win over the Bulldogs despite winning just four of 11 events. Caleb Fuschillo hit the top of the podium twice. The senior turned in a blistering 23.88 in the 50 freestyle and he joined Jacob Bixby, Joel Van Tassel and Hunter Tarbox on the 200 freestyle relay team that posted a 1:42.68.

Nate Messier won the 100 backstroke with a 1:06.65 and Ryan Burks captured gold with a 6:01.98.

WRESTLING

Mat men sweep

Host Massabesic topped Biddeford 39-36, topped Sanford 43-36 and they handed Bonny Eagle a 51-30 defeat at a four-team meet held Saturday, Jan. 22. Biddeford dominated their other two foes, easily handling the Scots (60-18) and Spartans (57-18), but the Tigers couldn't get past the Mustangs who got wins via pin from Leo Amabile (106); Brayden Melvin (113); Noah Schneider (182), and Matthew Carroll (220).

Logan Martin (152) added a 6-1 win, good for three points and the difference in the meet, to the cause.

Bulldogs bite Mustangs Moss brothers drop 45

By MICHAEL DEANGELIS
mdeangelis@waterbororeporter.com

Terion Moss had 25 points and older brother Amir had 20 to pace a 71-57 win over visiting Massabesic on Tuesday, Jan. 26. The Mustangs came roaring onto the court at the Expo in Portland, building an early 9-0 lead largely with transition offense. A timeout seemed to calm down first-place Portland (14-1) as they settled into their offense while at the same time forcing Massabesic to generate points with their own half-court game, where they struggled.

The result was a 32-15 run before the halftime break that all but sealed the win for the Bulldogs.

Coach Chris Binette, despite a 3-4 mark over their last seven contests, remains positive about his team saying, "we've been on the road against the power teams from both the south and north and we continue to prove ourselves and we continue to learn so much from these close losses...all our seniors know the end is near and they are very focused."

Massabesic took road losses to powerhouses Deering (14-1) 70-67; Thornton Academy (13-2) 63-61, and most recently Portland.

They currently hold the third spot in the class AA south standings and they'll likely host a first round playoff game.

Mustangs batter South Portland

Massabesic held South Portland (9-6) to just 11 first-half points, which sent them into the halftime break with a 30-11 advantage, on their way to an easy 64-47 home win on Friday, Jan 22.

The Mustangs had nine different players score: Tyus Sprague-Ripley and Josh Daigle each had 15; Ryan Gullikson, Dan Amabile and Dawson Renaud each had eight; Weston Bergeron had four; and Adam DeAngelis, Isaac Desvergnnes and Riley "Jake" Caldwell each had two.

The Mustangs face Scarborough at home on Jan. 29, then travel to Noble on Feb. 2. On Feb 4 the boys are home again to face Sanford for their last regular season game, where the eleven seniors will also be recognized during Senior Night.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Mustangs stun Scarborough

Drain's double double key's win

Madi Drain had 14 points and 13 rebounds to help lift the lady Mustangs to a thrilling 58-57 win over host Scarborough (6-9) on Friday, Jan.22. The victory was the second in a row for the young Mustangs (3-12) who have 10 underclassmen on the squad and just one senior, Sara Guimond, who helped out with five points in the contest.

The game was tight throughout the first half with Massabesic closing out the first period with a 13-8 edge. The Riots kept it close and the two teams went into the break even at 26.

The Mustangs dominated play late in the third and into the fourth, building a 15 point advantage, as freshmen McKenzie Ouellette and Skylar Renaud got their offense clicking. The pair finished with 29 points (Renaud had 11) aided by a sparkling 10 of 10 combined from the free throw line.

Scarborough made a run late and got the game down to one possession, but junior Emma Desrochers was at her best late, chipping with eight points on the night that included clutch free throws down the stretch.

Massabesic finished 17 of 22 from the free throw line.

INDOOR TRACK

Westbrook sweeps

Kylie Johnson won the 600 meter run with a 1:41.37 and her 12:34.57 in the two mile was best, but it wasn't enough to lift Massabesic out of last place at a three team track and field meet held Saturday, Jan. 23 at USM.

Westbrook finished with 117 points, Cheverus had 72 and the Mustangs had 66. Moriah Biener was runner-up in the 400 and she won the high jump at 5'2". Maquila DiMastrantonio was second best in the triple jump and she was third in the mile.

Unified in victory New program starts with win

Massabesic high school added a unified basketball program to its list of school sports and activities and the group got their inaugural season off to a great start with a 22-14 win.

Unified sports teams are dedicated to promoting social inclusion through shared sports training and competition experiences. They join people with and without intellectual disabilities on the same team. The sport was inspired by a simple principle: training together and playing together is a quick path to friendship and understanding.

Massabesic is one of 32 schools that have developed a Unified basketball team. The regular season consists of a seven games schedule, followed by playoffs.

Head coach Katherine Fournier was thrilled with the start. "Watching the interaction and sportsmanship in practice and of course at our first game was just amazing...Beth (assistant coach Elizabeth Cote) and I are so proud, the teamwork and discipline gets me choked up just thinking about it."

OBITUARIES

Gina Geary Merry

Gina Geary Merry of Arundel, passed away on Jan. 25, 2016. She was a true lover of life. Gina was the daughter of Edward and Patricia Geary and the seventh of ten children. She was born and raised in New Jersey. Her parents and siblings meant the world to her. Each of her sisters and brothers were her favorite and she shared special bonds with her many nieces and nephews.

Gina Geary Merry

Gina met her soulmate in 1977 on their first day of college. They were rarely apart from that day on and married in 1983. Instead of responding with the traditional wedding vow of "I do," Gina shouted a resounding "You Betcha!" She was a much loved addition to the Merry family. No matter the circumstance, Gina greeted each day with a beaming smile and a cheerfully sung "good morning." That will be missed the most.

Gina was a voracious reader and especially enjoyed early morning walks, time spent at the beach and gardening. She was a fantastic cook and a joy to share meals with. Gina was competitive and a true sports fan. She revelled participating in sports as well as cheering on her favorite players and teams. March Madness was a particular favorite. Thanksgivings spent around family, food and football were her most cherished memories.

Professionally, Gina achieved her designated Real Estate Broker's License, Certified Appraisal License and Certified Maine Assessor License. She served as the Town of Lyman's tax assessor for the past 8 years. She loved her work, would fight her way into the office on days it appeared she was too ill to move and even worked from her hospital room during an extended stay. I would like to extend a special thank you to Gina's coworkers, board members and community for all your love, care and support. Also to the many members of "Gina's Team" for taking great care of us, thank you.

Gina didn't require much because she felt she had everything.

Gina believed deeply in giving back. She served on a number of boards, gave of her time often, was a top fundraiser for two years at Mary's Walk in Saco and helped start Lyman's annual food drive.

She loved and was well loved. Gina was predeceased by her loving parents, sister Andrea Gleave, mother-in-law Mary Joan Merry, sister-in-law Bitsy Geary and brother-in-law Jerry Oliviero.

A celebration of her life will be held on Jan. 30 at the South Congregational Church, 2 North St., Kennebunkport at 11 a.m. In lieu of flowers, send donations to the York County Shelter Program, P.O. Box 820, Shaker Hill Rd., Alfred, ME 04002.

Arrangements are in care of Bibber Memorial Chapel, 67 Summer Street, Kennebunk, ME 04043, www.bibberfuneral.com.

Melvin attended local schools in Waterboro and like so many young men of his generation, he left school and enlisted during World War II into the U.S. Navy; serving from 1943 to 1946. Many years later, Melvin and the other young men from his class received their high school diplomas.

Melvin was a longtime logger who loved being out in the woods. He also worked as a truck driver for Hunnewell Trucking, as a welder for Maine Rubber and retired from the Baker Company in Sanford. Melvin was never afraid of hard work and was very proud to provide for his family.

Melvin was an avid outdoorsman, who enjoyed hunting, fishing and trapping. He belonged to "The Biggest Buck Club" in the State of Maine and the "One that didn't get away Club." He possessed a great sense of humor and his "belly laughs" would bring a smile to your face! He loved to tell stories of his younger years and never missed a chance to go fishing with his family or buddies. Melvin was a fellow Mason for over 50 years with the Arion Lodge #162, in Goodwin Mills.

Melvin will be remembered for being devoted to his family and community. He had a rich and full life. He has now entered into eternal rest and will be dearly missed.

He is lovingly survived by his four children, Melvina Desrochers of Lebanon; Rodney Bradeen of Waterboro; Cynthia Reynolds of Vassalboro and Jane Wallace of Gorham; his seven grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren.

He was predeceased by his wife, Brenda A. Bradeen in 1983.

OPINION

Rest in peace Mr. Jones

by Jon Simonds

If there truly is a God gazing down upon us and a dark lord walking amongst us, humanity has been blessed and well armed with a gift for love illustrated by those who have touched us, inspired us and led us through our darkest hours. After all, 'there is nothing you can do that can't be done.'

There is nothing you can sing that can't be sung - nothing you can do but you can learn how to be you. It's easy.'

Maybe there truly is some un-visible battle between good and evil and evil is on the upswing because evil breeds selfishness and greed and an ignorance of humanity in all its frailty and human need.

We throw dollars at lotto vendors, ignoring the homeless and hungry we pass, as we slip into the local bodega with a ticket full of numbers to fulfill our fancy dreams.

We sing the praises of hatred and divisiveness in presidential campaings, offering little in real solutions to problems affecting too much of humanity for the benefit of far too few. 'Some things take so long. But how do I explain. When not too many people can see we're all the same.'

'Few will have the greatness to bend history itself, but each of us can work to change a small portion and in the total,' we can effect change.

These are the lessons handed down from the greatest generation, inspiring a lost generation to gather en-mass and effect change – and they did effect change from the Civil Rights movement all the way to the Market Basket revolution. It begins with a voice or a song rising above corporate power, of Citizens United, of those who choose to walk the path of darkness.

Has the whole concept of love become 'such an old fashioned word that dares you to care for the people on the edge of the night. Dares you to change your way of caring about ourselves.' Is this our last dance?

We've lost another hero though his voice will never be silent. David Jones, who changed his name to David Bowie due to the success of singer Davey Jones of the Monkees, opened the door of glam-rock, imagery and fashion. Long before Eminem gave us Slim Shady, Bowie brought out Ziggy Stardust, his imaginary best friend with no shame, nor guilt. His films included the Hunger with Susan Sarandon, The Man Who Fell To Earth and Merry Christmas, Mr. Lawrence.

Rest in Peace, Mr. Jones because, you had so much to offer and nothing much to take. You've left us with a legacy of music; a voice raised above the masses to inspire, comfort and move. I will never stop believing in the 'madness that calls now' or that there is indeed 'a light shining through somehow.'

Greens to caucus

With 2016 being a presidential election year, caucus time is here. In Maine, political parties select their presidential candidate by caucus. So, here's the question, what the heck is a caucus and how is it different from a primary? In a primary, voters go to their polling place to vote for one of the party candidates by secret ballot. This is the same process for voting in a general election. In a caucus, members of the party meet together in their local precinct to pledge support for the candidate of their choice. The voting results of each local caucus are reported to the respective party's state committee. The candidate with the most votes is then officially nominated at the party's state convention.

Participation in a caucus requires more of a time and energy commitment than voting in a primary. A meeting time and date is posted between 3 and 7 days before the caucus. Voters registered with the respective party meet to review prospective candidates and vote for the person they want to be on the ballot for the general election in November. A typical caucus can last an hour or more. It may involve forming a local party committee or having a meeting for one that already exists. There may be speeches from party officials.

The extra commitment to participate in a caucus may mean that those who do participate are the party activists, the hard-core partisans. The attendees may have fringe values that do not represent those of the main-stream party members. When the caucus is attended by a good number of interested party members, there is a better chance of support for candidates that represent the values of regular party members.

In Maine, caucuses must be held between Jan. 1 and March 19. The Maine Green Independent Party will hold its caucuses during this period. There are five Green Party candidates currently running for the party's presidential nomination. Information about them can be found on the Maine Green Independent Party web site, MaineGreens.org or at the national party web site GP.org.

Limerick Greens will hold our caucus during this time-frame. To take part, you must be a member of the Maine Green Independent Party. If you are registered, watch for the notice of the time and place. If you are a member of another party and would like to change your affiliation, you can submit a new voter registration card at least 15 days before the caucus. If you are not registered, or registered as unenrolled, you can fill out a voter registration card at the Limerick Town Clerk's office. If you are a Green Independent Party member in a surrounding town, we encourage you to hold a caucus in your community.

For information on the process you can contact Gil Harris at LimerickGil@gmail.com.
