Cousens School building to house Lyman town offices

By BRIGIT MCCALLUM
brigit@waterbororeporter.com

Lyman residents approved all three questions relating to the future of the Cousens Memorial School at 382 Goodwin's Mills Road in Lyman when they went to the polls on Nov. 8. Voters approved the question of whether to renovate the building to house the Lyman Town Hall by a vote of 1865 to 717. They also voted 1573 to 984, to approve the town paying for the renovations by borrowing about $890,000 and using an additional $250,000 from the town's surplus fund. The vote was 1845 to 719 for the town to sell the existing town hall and use the proceeds to decrease debt from the renovation bond.

The building has been vacant, with some renovations, and maintained at the town's expense since the school closed in 2007. It will house the town offices, providing ample additional space over the current facility and the committee that brought the questions before the town for a vote is now developing plans for a possible community center there in the future.

Nate Poissant, chair of the committee, wrote, "We are very pleased with the results and for the opportunity the residents have given us to preserve Cousens School and make it into our new town hall and community center."

Following the yes vote, the committee, consisting of Chair Poissant, select board member Ed

Green light for mustache wax?

By CYNTHIA MATTHEWS

It's fall, the weather is getting cooler, and we are starting to gear up for winter. For some men, this means growing facial hair. This has been encouraged by 'No Shave November' to raise awareness for cancer patients who lose their hair, and by 'Movember,' in which growing a moustache helps raise awareness for men's health.

Jamin Badger of Dayton moved to Maine from Florida in 2009. At that time, he had no facial hair. "Florida is hot, you don't want to add to the heat by growing facial hair," he said. But, in the fall of 2011, he started to grow a moustache as a joke, to help keep his face warm. It got rather long, and he began using Clement's Moustache Wax, "a brand everyone's grandfather would have used" or had on hand. (His father, by the way, has always had a moustache). But one day, when he went to the local drug store to buy some, it was no longer there, only the drug store brand was available. That's when he decided to make his own. But when he made his own, he had a lot left over. "Why don't I sell it?" he thought. And Stache Bomb Stache Wax was born.

Badger has an aviation background, and works as an air traffic controller at the Portland Jetport. He's always been interested in planes, especially the classic

"bombers," aircraft of the WWII era. He needed a logo, and decided to go with the theme of these moustachioed aviators and noseart pinup girls of that time period. He worked with an artist, who created the Bomb with a Moustache, and added Stache

Bomb Stacy. "It was just what I had pictured in my head," said Badger. His first sale took place in January of 2012. And what started as a hobby, "took off quickly!"

In the spring of 2012, Badger was sent to Oklahoma to an FAA training

Sanborn, Joe Hirsch, select board Clerk Marie Nikel and Bradley Nikel plans to contract out a draftsman to get started on the interior design and configurations, and an engineer as needed to make sure that everything is up to code requirements and specifications. At the same time they will be working on defining the scope of work in order to generate the RFP's so that the project can go out to bid. According to Poissant, "We are aiming to complete this portion of the work by the spring in hopes to get the project underway in the summer of 2017. We are very grateful for this opportunity and excited for the possibilities it holds for the town into the future."

Voter turnout up – fire station addition down

By BRIGIT MCCALLUM

Waterboro voters turned down the referendum vote for a not-to-exceed $2 million addition and renovation of the Central Fire Station. Town Clerk Christine Torno certified that 3,899 ballots were cast and 1,742 voted Yes to 2,166 No, with 80 ballots left blank.

Fire Chief Matt Bors said, “The people have spoken, but the needs haven’t changed, and we will have to find a way to address them. We have a large number of people working here to provide 24-7 coverage, with inadequate bathroom, shower and bunk space. We have no sprinkler system to protect the people here as well as the investment the town has made in the facilities we have, and we have no public water. So the question is, where do we go from here?” Both Bors and Deputy Chief Lisa Bennett agreed that it is up to the selectmen to explore what the next steps will be.

Town Administrator Gary Lamb said that he was disappointed, but not surprised by the fire station vote. “We have many folks on fixed income and we certainly have spent heavily on needed infrastructure and equipment these past two years.” He also said that selectmen and staff will discuss this and other election wrap up items at the next meeting on Nov. 22.

Board Chair Dennis Abbott wrote, “The message is clear and we need to move on to dealing with an aging and insufficient facility to carry us very far in the future. The most important thing here is that the folks have spoken. It’s probably the largest vote on a local referendum in Waterboro, for or against, in history.” He added, “This was a lot of money to swallow in one big bite. We need to keep working together to provide solutions.”

Board member Gordon Littlefield wrote, “The fire department problems remain and we must find other ways, and means, to correct those deficiencies. We will undoubtedly have a number of workshops and brain-storming sessions to determine the best course of action to pursue that is palatable to the voters.”

In other activity on Election Day, Lamb reported that volunteers collected 991 signatures for the June 2017 question on whether or not to replace town meeting with referendum voting. Lamb added, “Before we can verify those signatures we must first update our voter list because roughly 500 people registered to vote at the polls on Tuesday and some of them also signed the petition.

He also noted that, while there were lines during the voting, “4,000 voters is a great turnout.” He thanked Town Clerk staff Christine Torno and Nancy Johnson and the dozen election staff, saying, “All told the election team was over a dozen people all working together and it showed. Thanks to all who worked and helped out.”

Community food drives for new pantry

Waterboro Elementary School, local Cub Scouts and the Waterboro Fire Department are all lending a hand to help the almost-completed Waterboro Community Pantry off to a good start. At WES, the Student Helpers are organizing the annual pre-Thanksgiving food drive, and the PTO will be helping out by donating turkeys. Student Helper teacher/advisor Bria Bourque said the students will be collecting non-perishable food and household items for the “new” pantry this year until Nov. 22, and the school goal this year is 2,000 items. If anyone in the community wants to help, they can drop off items in the office with Bourque’s name on them, and they will be added to the total.

Local Cub Scouts are also involved in this cause. On Nov. 12, the Waterboro Cub Scouts will be going door to door to collect food for local people who need help with food. Houses visited where no one is home will be left a flyer and grocery bag to place their non-perishable items out for the Cub Scouts to pick up on Nov. 19. Leader Shannon Batson says, “If a Cub Scout doesn’t visit your home and you wish to contribute to this cause, you may visit the Massabesic Lions Club on Nov. 19 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with your donation.” All items collected will be donated to the Waterboro Community Pantry. For questions or if a bag is not picked up, call or text the pack’s Scouting for Food coordinator, Dan Kelly at 608-0999.

Waterboro Fire Department will also be conducting a food drive on Saturday, Nov. 19 at the Waterboro Hannaford store.

Pantry president Cleo Smith says that non-perishable items will always be important, but especially so at this time when refrigeration is not yet in place as the project moves closer to completion. For more information, call Smith at 247-5967.

Carles Corner rink is in the works

The invitation has been issued for everyone who can to join in on Sunday, Nov. 20, at 8:30 a.m. to raise the Carles Corner Ice Rink frame for the third season. The rink is on Old Alfred Road, behind the Taylor House Museum. The slogan is, “Many hands make light work and we need your help!” Families and children are welcome, as there are many jobs for everyone.

Details of the work to be done that day are listed on the Carles Corner Ice Rink Facebook page. Some supplies that are needed are cordless drills and cordless impact drills, gloves, #25 star bits for drills and sledgehammers.

The call is out as well for new or gently used skates. The goal is to have various sizes available for loan to use at the rink for those interested in learning, or who would just like to get back on skates again without the investment. There is a particular need for teen sizes 9 to 13.

Lakeside Market will be accepting skate donations throughout the season at 411 Sokokis

Trail in East Waterboro. Once the rink is open, skates can be dropped off there also. Donations of new skate laces, right hand and left hand hockey sticks, pucks and hand skate sharpeners are also welcome. For more information, see the Facebook page or check at Lakeside Market at 247-8440.

Open Invitation from garden club

The Ossipee Meadows Garden Club will start its winter meetings on Thursday, Nov. 17 at 7 p.m. in the meeting room at the old town hall. New and experienced gardeners alike are welcome, as the club is a place for those new to gardening to find information and mentoring and those with more experience to broaden their knowledge and skills. For more information, email ossipeemeadows@yahoo.com.

Salt and Sand Shed open house

On Sunday, Nov. 20, there will be an open house at the new Waterboro salt and sand shed, from 1 to 3 p.m. The shed is located on Bennett Hill Road in East Waterboro, and accessed by the road just before the entrance to the transfer station. Newly appointed Public Works Director, David Benton, said, “We hope a lot of folks will come down so we can show them around and we have some salt and sand in there now, so they can see how it will be set up.” He describes the shed as 44 feet from floor to ceiling, and able to store 1,300 tons of salt and twice that amount of salt and sand mixture.

The bond issue, which will provide funds to improve highways and bridges, passed with 1095 in favor and 729 rejecting it. This will be matched with federal funds and was approved by Governor LePage.

The total number of ballots cast was 1873.

There were 1285 in favor of the new comprehensive plan, 468 negative votes, and 103 who left it blank. A public hearing will be held Tuesday, Nov. 22 at Conant Chapel at 6 p.m. to learn about an amendment to it that would allow contract zoning.

Greer open house

Many friends and family members gathered in the new house on Back Road built to replace the old Greer home lost in a fire last year. The new one, built by the Greer's son Jesse, a contract carpenter, includes all the things the old one didn't have, including two bathrooms with showers, downstairs den, upstairs combination kitchen/dining/living room plus an attached garage and extra bedrooms to accommodate their grandchildren.

A special feature is a Victorian fireplace, rescued from the old house. Hanging above it is Larry's two man cross cut saw.

This is where George Came, an early owner, had inserted in the chimney a record of the work done. Not only did Larry Greer rescue that record (found on a board) but they were able to save the fireplace. It was cleaned up, installed and will have the record included. It says "Mantel cost $41 in Boston. Was picked up July 7, 1899 by Herman M. Sayward assisted by Fred R. Roberts. "That mantel would cost $1,500 today."

"Herm" Sayward is remembered as a fine carpenter who built many Alfred homes.

Peggy and Larry Greer stand before the old mantel in their new house. Information on when the mantel was first installed was saved by Larry who ran into the burning building to save it. There was an open house held last Saturday to celebrate their new home. PHOTO BY ALLISON WILLIAMS

CROSS COUNTRY

Golden Scots XC ladies repeat

BY MICHAEL DEANGELIS
mdeangelis@waterbororeporter.com

Bonny Eagle got national elite performances from Ami Beaumier and Christine Toy to help lift them to their second consecutive Class A State Title in girls cross country on Saturday, Nov. 5 in Belfast.

Beaumier finished ninth with a 19:37.03 and Toy was close behind in 11th with a 19:44.25 to give both of them national elite status which requires a time under 19:45. The Scots posted just 77 team points for the win, easily ahead of Falmouth who totaled 83 and Massabesic, their neighbors and rivals, who was third with 143.

Kayla Raymond turned in a 15th place finish, Abbie Nelson was 27th and Emma Abbott was 37th for Bonny Eagle who captured their fourth title in the last five season's.

It's likely that several more state titles are in the near future for the Scots since Beaumier, Toy, Raymond and Nelson are just sophomores. Abbott is a freshman. Two more underclassmen attended the event and performed well, freshman Emma Noonan was 76th and Mia Stamey, another sophomore, was 82nd.

Bronze Mustangs Men, ladies 3rd at Class A XC States

BY MICHAEL DEANGELIS
mdeangelis@waterbororeporter.com

Massabesic's cross country team once again reminded everyone that they possess one of the best programs and coaching staffs in the state of Maine with third place overall finishes in both the men's and ladies divisions.

The Mustangs traveled to Belfast on Saturday, Nov. 5 to compete against 15 other high schools for a shot at a state title. While neither team was able to bring home gold, each managed to hit the podium and collect the bronze, a finish that back in September when the program began seemed unlikely.

"We thought we'd step back a bit with the girls, they're so young, and I suppose our best case thought on the boys was third, but after a third by the girls and fourth by the boys at regionals the week before...wow, just a great total effort, every single second mattered by every runner, the top seven-eight team spots were so close," said coach T.J Hessler, who has been with head coach Mark Crepeau (over 30 years coaching at Massabesic) for a decade.

Consistency and experience at the top clearly breeds strength and success as currently there are at least one dozen Massabesic grads running for their college squads. Hessler explained that early on he and Crepeau even reevaluated the teams goals for year.

"We reset our goals early, just qualify for states, to do that we'd need a ninth-place finish or better at regionals."

For the men it was junior Alex Swett leading the way with a national elite status finish of 16:19.94. Just 12 of the 116 male runners that crossed the line were able to secure the prestigious honor which requires a time under 16:30.

Swett's finish helped pace Massabesic to a narrow third place finish with 151 points, edging fourth place Windham who totaled 155. Falmouth was first with 72 points and Deering took the silver with 116. Mt. Blue and Hampden Academy tied for fifth with 158. Scarborough was next with 170 and Mt. Ararat was eighth with 174. Neighbor Bonny Eagle had a solid showing with a ninth overall finish.

The Mustangs had another fine performance from Donovan Duffy who cracked the top 20, coming in 19th, with a personal best time of 16:47.66, the first occasion of the senior running below the 17-minute mark. Duffy, who played varsity soccer last fall, switched to cross country and seemed to surprise himself with the performance. He was asked how a soccer player qualifies for the New England Championships in cross country.

"I don't know really, but a lot of hard work; good training by our coaches, spring track helped although my two-mile times weren't great," he said.

Duffy and Alex Swett will head to Rhode Island, the only two Mustangs to qualify, on Saturday, Nov. 12 for the N.E chamampionship competition.

Sophomore Jacob About finished less than seven seconds behind teammate Duffy with a 16:54.45. David Phinney and Jebediah Johnson contributed to the win with solid performances as just seven team points separated the third place Mustangs from the deadlocked pair of Mt. Blue and Hampden Academy.

Tucker Barber of Mt. Blue High was the top male runner with a 15:47.33.

Kylie Johnson was 16th with a time of 20:07.65 and Hallie Benton (20:34.94) was 25th to help lift the lady Mustangs to a third place finish of their own at states. Bonny Eagle took the gold with 77 points; Falmouth was next with 83; the Mustangs ended up with 143, Brunswick was next with 147 and Marshwood filled out the top five with 167.

Freshman Sarah Cloutier had a superb day, finishing 39th, senior Hope Saucier was 48th and Emily Cyr was 54th. With four points separating Massabesic and Brunswick every spot mattered.

Malaika Pasch of Falmouth finished first with a time of 18:22.02, nipping Louise Holway of Kennebunk at the wire by less than half a second.

OBITUARIES

Angelique Elizabeth Lavallee

Angelique Elizabeth Lavallee, 33 of Biddeford, left us suddenly on Monday, Nov. 7, 2016. Angelique was born on Jan. 25, 1983 in Burlington, Vermont.

Angelique's companion was Wade E. McLaughlin and her dog, Brady. They were the best of friends for seven wonderful years. Angelique was also survived by her Mother Kathryn Peirce; her brother Joshua Lavallee; her sister Cherokee Tricou and her husband Joe and son Dominic; her father Dana Lavallee, brother Bobby Lavallee, and sisters Jennifer Lavallee, Heather Cushman and her husband Adam Cushman and their son Logan Cushman; as well as many other aunts and uncles, cousins and family and friends. Angelique is predeceased by her grandfather, Robert Lavallee and her grandmother Katherine Pierce.

Angelique was a graduate of the University of Maine at Machias. She had two Bachelors' degrees, one in Marine Biology, a field, she had completed over 90 credit hours of science classes in, as well as Secondary Education, a career choice she followed with a passion. While at Machias she made several life long friends most notably Lindsay Hirt, and Tracie Merrill, who also shared her love of animals and Science. Angelique's interest turned from the animals to the kids of her classrooms she taught in. She started teaching in School in Northern Maine, tutoring many places before and during those early years, working for Sylvan Learning center also before starting her career at Massabesic High School in their Biology classroom.

Angelique had three great enjoyments; first, her love of baking and cooking was truly fun for her. The catharsis she got from putting ingredients together to get the correct end result was something she enjoyed, and learned in her grandmother Katherine's kitchen. She truly enjoyed cooking and chatting with her grandmother. Baking for her was a breeze, as her science background allowed her to know what, and more importantly, what not to do. She was so good that her talent was actually acknowledged when she received the Grand Champion award at the 2010 Maine State Potato Blossom Festival for her chocolate potato cupcakes with potato cream cheese frosting.

Angelique loved going to the ocean. She was extremely excited to go to the beach! She would yell to Wade and her dog Brady. It was a place she would go to do nothing more than just relax, whether she was getting in the water, or just climbing the rocks looking for critters, as she called them.

Her final great pleasure was her kids. She tried to go above and beyond for them in the things she did, from giving out what she called Gotcha's which were catching kids doing the right thing and acknowledging that behavior with small prize items she would collect for her room. The dedicated, resourceful, conscientious success of individual importance, with unique and organized classroom discipline techniques she had learned and had adopted allowed her to be successful with all levels of students. She truly believed, anyone can learn. Although medical conditions (IHH) tried to slow her down, she made sure her kids came first. She was a champion.

Angelique's viewing and service will be on Saturday, Nov. 12 at 2:30 p.m. at Hope Memorial Chapel, 480 Elm St. Biddeford, ME 04005. Viewing will take place from 2:30 to 4 p.m. with a non-religious service starting around 4 p.m., lasting approximately one hour. All those who knew or would like to celebrate the life of this exceptionally brave and strong person are welcome to attend. To share condolences visit www.HopeMemorial.com.

Winthrop Sargent Roberts

Winthrop Sargent Roberts, age 82, passed away with family by his side on Nov. 3, 2016. Winthrop was born and raised in Braintree, Massachusetts. He was a graduate of Bentley Business School. Early in his career he worked as a banker while serving as First Lieutenant in the National Guard. He lived most of his adult life in Weymouth, Massachusetts. In 1961 he began working for Allen Furniture as an office clerk. Winthrop worked his way up to treasurer and then finally to Vice President. After his retirement in 1998 he moved to his lakefront home in Waterboro with his wife Shirley.

Winthrop Sargent Roberts

Winthrop is survived by his beloved wife of 60 years Shirley Roberts (Loukola) of Waterboro, his loving children John Roberts and his wife Eleanor of Waterboro; Bill Roberts and his wife Shelley of Weymouth; the late Randy Roberts, and Winthrop's daughter-in-law Diane Roberts-Parris and her husband Mark of Bridgewater. He is also the cherished grandfather to Elyse, Amy, Nate, Danny, Morgan, and Carly.

Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to the visiting hours for Winthrop on Saturday, Nov. 12 from 10 a.m. to noon at the C. C. Shepherd Funeral Home located at 134 Pleasant St. (Columbian Sq.) S. Weymouth, Massachusetts. A service will be held in honor of his life in the funeral home immediately following the visitation at noon. Burial will be at Elmwood Cemetery in Bridgewater. Donations in memory of Winthrop may be made to the American Diabetes Association at 2451 Crystal Drive, Suite 900, Arlington, VA 22202. She was preceded in death by her parents Roland and Hilda (Comeau) Sheppard; a sister Jeannie, three brothers Roland, for two weeks. While there, he passed a man with a handlebar moustache on his way to the cafeteria. In passing, he said, "Nice Stache!" The man replied, "I use Stache Bomb," and pulled the tin out of his pocket. Badger told him who he was and the two continued to converse. The man told him that he bought it because of the label. "I guess I nailed it!" said Badger!

MUSTACHE WAX

Now, Badger works full time at the Jetport. They started a conversation and the man pulled out his moustache wax out of his pocket. comes home and works another 25 hours or more each week on his new business. It takes about an hour and fifteen minutes to make 100 units. All of Stache Bomb's Wax's are beeswax based. The secret? Well, it might just be the scent or fragrance. The Original Stache Bomb Stache Wax "smells like Christmas" according to Badger. It has a pine scent. There is also apple, pumpkin spice, bacon, and freshcut grass. There is a different version of the logo for each scent. His newest is called "Wicked Good." The scent is of the sea, and the logo features Stache Bomb Stacy on a lobster. In addition to Wax, Stache

Bomb sells Beard Bomb Oil and Balm, which have the scent of the woods, moustache combs, shaving sets, and even a "moguard" for drinking and not ruining your stache. Find out more about his products, and how to order them at www.stachebomb.com

"It's kind of a family thing," Badger said. His wife and kids, and a family friend, help label the wax and box it up for delivery. Badger estimates that he has about 10,000 customers, all over the world, from local places in Maine, all the way to Singapore! "There are facial hair clubs all over the country," Badger explained. "They got started about the same time that I started my business." These clubs meet once a month, but also host facial hair competitions. One competition here in Maine is the Stache Pag.

Stache Pag is a Facial Hair Competition that takes place in March and has been held in Portland for the last few years. It was founded by Nick Callanan and his buddies, who decided to grow moustaches for the winter, then got together to see who had the best one. It has turned into a kind of costume party, beauty or "Stache" pageant and comedy show all in one. There are 4 main categories: Magnum PI – a natural moustache ala Tom Selleck, the 1899 Maine Legislature – a styled moustache, the Castaway – a full, natural beard, and the Thigh Tickler – freestyle facial hair, "anything goes!" In 2016, Badger won the 1899 Maine Legislature category as the Stache Bomber.

What's next for this company? "Two years ago I heard about Greenlight Maine," said Badger. "But the audition window was really tight, and it was when my daughter was born." So he waited. He happened to meet the host of Greenlight Maine at the Stache Pag. He sent in a video audition, then was asked to audition live, then found out that he was going to be on the show.

If you haven't heard of Greenlight Maine, it is the local version of Shark Tank. The goal of the show is to promote and mentor the development and growth of business in Maine. This year's prize is $100,000, just what Badger would need to take his business to the next level. Aside from the prize money, Greenlight Maine provides opportunities. According to their website, "Each and every presenter walked away with invaluable information, contacts and advice to help with their companies." For more information about Greenlight Maine, visit www.greenlightmaine.com.

Stache Bomb is competing with Switchdown on this Saturday's episode, Episode 7, of Greenlight Maine. Though the episode was taped in August, Badger is anxiously waiting to find out who won! "We filmed two endings," he explained. "One where I win, and one where I lose." If he wins, he will move on to the next round in the competition.

To find out if Stache Wax is the "bomb" and gets the "greenlight" to move forward in the competition, tune in to WCSH 6 this Saturday night, Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m., after Bill Green's Maine.

Good luck to the Stache Bomber!

SPIRIT AWARD

listed on the Spirit of America citation:

"Leo and Sandi have been instrumental leaders in the creation and maintenance of a community skating area formerly on Little Ossipee Lake and now a new facility at the Taylor House and;

They have been members of and participated in the Waterboro Economic Development Committee activities and;

They have been members of and participated in the Waterboro Association of Businesses and;

They have been involved in coaching and other support of basketball, soccer, little league and other local sports organizations and;

They have participated in, and donated funds and their time to numerous other charitable efforts."

Then, on Nov. 2, Leo and Sandi were among six York County Spirit of America Award recipients honored in a ceremony at the York County Commissioners offices. The others included Peg Poulin from Saco, Kenneth Putnam from Limington, Mary Craig from North Berwick, Ken Hall from Cornish, and Tina Kelly and Dennis Robillard from the Veteran's Memorial Park Flag Ceremony Committee in Old Orchard Beach.

This was only the second time this award has been presented in the Town of Waterboro since the award's inception in 1991. The other was a group award, given to the Massabesic Lions Club in 1991.

Asked her reaction, Sandi replied, "We were humbled that we were even considered. It's rewarding to give. Giving is always better than receiving, whether it's of oneself or one's time. I guess it's built in; we don't know any different." Thinking about what she and her family do, she says it's always different, depending on the goal. "It could be beautifying things so our community looks better, it could be helping young people, building the future of the community, or anything that builds a sense of community, to help people know and take care of where we come from."

Binette touts her dad as the driving force for her, so she does things to try to make him proud, and to that end, has gotten their son Caleb on board to be part of his community. "He's been involved with anything we do, whether it's making ice, or working on trails with the land trust, or cleaning up Bob Fay Park. Caleb is now part of the Student Helpers at Waterboro Elementary, whether it's working with younger kids, or visiting elders, he's learning how to take care of his own community, the school community."

Following the ceremony at the County Commissioners, Sandi reacted, "It was a whirlwind! It was humbling, and so inspiring to hear the stories of the other inductees. People think volunteerism needs to be a big project, but it can be small. You just see something you think should be done and do it!"

Leo and Sandi Binette are the owners and operators of Lakeside Market on Route 5 in East Waterboro.
