Election set for Senate seat

AUGUSTA – A special election for the Maine Senate District 32 seat has been scheduled for Tuesday, March 29.

The Senate seat, which covers the City of Biddeford and the towns of Alfred, Arundel, Dayton, Kennebunkport and Lyman, was previously held by Sen. David Dutremble of Biddeford, who resigned his position on Jan. 28.

Governor Paul LePage and Secretary of State Matthew Dunlap signed the proclamation announcing the special election on Monday, Feb. 1.

Maine's three political parties, the Democrats, Green Independents and Republicans, will now caucus to choose candidates for the seat. Candidate nominations are due to the Office of the Secretary of State by 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 16.

Non-party candidates must circulate petitions and obtain the signatures of at least 200 registered voters in Senate District 32.

Police coverage to be discussed

BY BRIGIT MCCALLUM
brigit@waterbororeporter.com

The Waterboro Budget Committee will lead a public discussion on police services Thursday Feb. 11, starting at 6:30 p.m. in the Town Hall Annex meeting room. This is in response to a recommendation from the Public Safety Committee and Town Administrator Gary Lamb to hire one additional 40 hour per week deputy in the FY 16 -17 budget. Attending will be Waterboro's Contract Deputy Shawn Sanborn, Major Tom Baran, members of the Select Board, the Public Safety Committee and any other interested citizens. The purpose of this meeting will not be to discuss countywide police services, but a concentrated dialogue on Waterboro's needs and wants in regard to law enforcement. Deputy Sanborn will discuss what he does not get to now, where he would suggest more enforcement hours be put and other relevant issues. Sanborn and Major Baran will also bring the latest Waterboro crime figures to add to this discussion.

Local senator proposes bill to help opiate addicts

brigit@waterbororeporter.com

Thursday, Jan. 28, Senator David Woodsome (R-York) presented a proposal to the Health and Human Services Committee to increase MaineCare reimbursements for outpatient methadone treatment at a public hearing. His bill, LD 1473, "Resolve, To Increase Access to Opiate Addiction Treatment in Maine" aims to increase access to opiate addiction treatment by increasing the reimbursement rate from $60 to $80 a week.

Woodsome, who lives in North Waterboro, represents Senate District 33, which includes Cornish, Limerick, Newfield, Parsonsfield, Sanford, Shapleigh and Waterboro. A retired high school teacher with long experience, Woodsome says addictions have always been an interest and he has long been aware of the terrible effects they have on individuals, families and the wider society. "I have seen so many students struggling, whether with food, alcohol or drugs, and heroin addiction is terrible in the toll it takes on the brain, it robs people of their personalities."

In his statement about the bill, Woodsome named opioid addiction as a public health crisis in Maine. "We need to approach the issue on all fronts, and that includes providing access to effective treatment." In November, Woodsome attended a symposium on the issue at Sanford Town Hall, where a treatment clinic had recently closed. It brought together local leaders, healthcare representatives, recovering addicts and law enforcement, and he was made aware of the size of the problem in his own district. He was very impressed with the work

"We need to approach the issue on all fronts, and that includes providing access to effective treatment."

—SENATOR DAVID WOODSOME on opioid addiction

Sanford Police Chief Tom Connolly was doing.

Woodsome did more research, including a trip along with York County Sheriff Bill King and Sagadahoc County Sheriff Joel Merry to Strafford County's prison in Dover, New Hampshire, where there is an in-house treatment facility for both men and women prisoners. They learned that most of those being treated had been in and out of jail several times, and had tried to quit several times. "They said this was the best situation they had been in. They said, 'We're here, in a safe environment, given counseling and treatment.' They are gaining social skills and learning a trade; their families are better off and they are more stable. Everything is structured. This is the kind of program that can be effective." Seeing the effectiveness of this kind of program, Woodsome decided the issue needed to be addressed.

Knowing the state had cut back funding for methadone treatment programs, dropping it from $80 a week reimbursement to $70 in 2010, then to $60 in 2012, he knew this wasn't enough to cover the required complex and extended care. He felt that, to be successful, treatment must address root problems that may have led to the addiction.

Ice Rink in meltdown

Until further notice, the Carle's Corner Ice Rink is closed due to warm temperatures. Current conditions include split layers and unskateable ice. The driveway is blocked off to protect thawed mud. According to Sandi Binette, "It's very disappointing to not have a winter activity for the kids and families. Mother Nature is in charge. If it keeps up we are going to have to use bug spray!"

Maiden voyage

On Jan. 14, Rehab 1, Waterboro Fire and Rescue's newly transformed school bus, now a fully-equipped vehicle for firefighter support, took its maiden voyage to a structure fire in Springvale. A Waterboro engine and ladder company accompanied the fully detailed rehab response apparatus.

Puppets looking for a home

For over three years Mary Quinn Doyle, has traveled throughout Maine visiting over two hundred farms, and collecting puppets.

Her photos and writing have been shared in a 296-page book, traveling photo exhibit, comprehensive website (www.unique-maine-farms.com), and a slideshow and discussion program. Doyle is hoping that this agricultural educational outreach project will eventually be able to offer a space for children and adults to enjoy a puppet museum that will focus on folktales from around the world.

For over forty years, Doyle has been fascinated with puppets and her collection (that exceeds over one thousand puppets) can be viewed at www.puppetsforeveryone.com. She is hoping that a non-profit organization, place of worship, town, farm, Grange, or individual with a large space that is not being used will consider providing a temporary home for the puppets to be displayed and enjoyed on an occasional basis. She has been exploring grant opportunities to help with any necessary renovations for a possible space.

It is hoped that proceeds from admission charged for the museum and for any puppet programs that take place could help with utilities for the space and also help to benefit the new Mainers who wish to begin farming in Maine. Refugees have important stories to tell. Doyle is hoping that a puppet museum will enable the sharing of the refugees' stories and a showcase for folk tales from around the world.

Any readers with information about a possible location for a puppet museum is encouraged to contact Doyle at mqdoyle@gmail.com or at 207-793-2759.

DEAN'S LIST

Olivia Bradley of Waterboro, class of 2018, and Zoe LeBlanc of Lyman, class of 2019, made Tufts University's Dean's List for undergraduate students enrolled for the Fall 2015 semester.

Dean's list honors at Tufts require a semester grade point average of 3.4 or greater.

The following students have been named to the Dean's List at the University of New Hampshire for the fall semester of the 2015-2016 academic year:

Alyssa Gilman of Alfred has earned High Honors

Alycia Loshaw of Dayton has earned High Honors

Lindsey Hall of Dayton has earned High Honors

Nathaniel Schopen of Hollis Center has earned High Honors

Devin Rheaume of Limington has earned Highest Honors

Mariah Arral of Waterboro has earned Highest Honors

Students named to the Dean's List at the University of New Hampshire have earned recognition through their superior scholastic performance. Highest Honors are awarded to students who earn a semester grade point average of 3.85 or better out of a possible 4.0. Students with a 3.65 to 3.84 average are awarded high honors and students whose grade point average is 3.5 through 3.64 are awarded honors.

LYMAN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NEWS

Joy Spencer

The building at Lyman Elementary was jumping on Saturday, Jan. 23 in celebration of Jump Into January sponsored by the Lyman PTC. The gym was transformed into a bouncing paradise that included a giant slide and obstacle course. Fun games and face painting took place in the lobby and food, drinks and treats were served in the cafeteria.

Other than food the event cost only $5 "due to everyone's amazing fundraising efforts," according to president of the PTC, Laurie Gerard. The PTC meets the second Tuesday of the month. Everyone is welcome. The PTC is also looking for ideas and suggestions about events and/or fundraisers. Contact Laurie Gerard at lgddga@hotmail.com.

From the principal's desk

"We now have two Swivel Cameras for use by students and staff in the classroom. This device enables a teacher to video tape themselves presenting and teaching and then to watch it for review and reflection. The teacher may also send it to a fellow teacher or me (Ginny) for feedback. This device can also be used by students when doing a presentation. Next the teacher and student can watch it to determine the successfulness of their presentation skills. This type of real and authentic reflection and feedback is so useful and so much more beneficial than a written overview. We are very excited to have this type of technology available for students and staff."

Lyman Elementary turned into a colorful array of sport shirts and uniforms to celebrate "Spirit Day" on Friday, Jan. 29. Students were encouraged to dress in a shirt representing their favorite team or the uniform of a team that they play on. Patriots' gear was plentiful, and some children proudly wore their soccer, football and baseball uniforms. Staff donned their favorite team's gear also. It was a fun way to show support for their team.

SWIMMING

Girls rout, men edge Waynflete

The lady Mustangs won 8 of 11 events to easily swim past host Waynflete 116-43 on Jan. 29.

The sister unit: Elaine and Amanda Dudley; Joanna and Sophia LaFrance, kicked the meet off in typical fashion with a win in the 200 medley relay (2:07.56).

The Dudley's joined Sophia LaFrance and Morgan Houk in the 200 freestyle relay which they won; and both LaFrance's had Amanda Dudley and Houk (winner of the 50 free) with them when they won the night's final event: the 400 freestyle relay.

Elaine Dudley turned in a 1:06.85 in the 100 fly, good for first, and she was first with a 1:04.43 in the 100 backstroke.

Emily Cyr won the 200 IM and Abigail Darling won the 100 breaststroke.

The Mustang men won just 2 of 11 events but they slipped past Waynflete with a narrow 85-76 win.

Caleb Fuschillo won the 100 backstroke with a 1:04.69 and the senior was with Hunter Tarbox, Ryan Burke and Cory Stewart in the 400 freestyle relay that swam to victory with a 3:54.64.

ICE HOCKEY

MOB wins sixth

MOB (Massabesic/Old Orchard/Bonny Eagle) hockey jumped out to a three-goal first-period bulge and put the game away with two quick scores early in the third to pace a 5-4 win over Marshwood/Traip/Sanford (MTS) at UNE on Monday, Feb 1.

Tyler Ouellette, Tom Komulainen and Brandon Caron had first-period goals to give MOB a three goal lead, but MTS (2-9-2) came back with a three-goal middle period to tie it.

Cam Roy and Caron put thoughts of an upset aside when they came out to start the third and put two goals in before one minute had elapsed. MTE managed a late score to make the final 5-4.

Roy and Caron each had two assists. MOB (6-7) holds the seventh spot in the standings, but only two teams, Scarborough (12) and Falmouth (10), have more than six wins as of Feb. 2.

The top eight teams advance to the playoffs.

Three Scots gold

Elisabeth Redwood (7.57) topped the field in the girls' 55 meter dash for Bonny Eagle on Saturday, Jan. 30 at USM in a meet dubbed "last chance" as it provides athlete's with an opportunity to either qualify for, or tune-up for, the southwestern and state championship meets.

Teammate Sabrina Deerfield (7.61) was right behind Redwood in second place.

Kialeigh Marston picked up a win for the Scots with a 2:26.77 in the 800 and Ami Beaumier won the one-mile race with a 5:31.10.

Bonny Eagle will look to improve upon a sixth place finish at last years' Southwesterns.

Massabesic's varsity boys' basketball team lifted their record to 13-4 with a 100-55 dismantling of host Noble on Tuesday, Feb. 2.

The Mustangs raced out to a quick 16-4 lead and the score ballooned from there as they closed out the first with an 18-point bulge at 32-14. Dan Amabile had 11 in the first, on the way to 21 and Tyus Sprague-Ripley put in eight on his way to 21.

For the Knights, it must have that Groundhog Day feel as they remain winless at 0-17 with only a visit to Marshwood looming, who topped them by 14 earlier in the campaign.

The lead swelled to 33 by half-time as Massabesic closed out a 24-9 second period. Seven players had at least one basket in the quarter with Weston Bergeron, Ryan Gullikson and Isaac DesVergnes in the mix and each heading towards 12-points apiece on the night. Massabesic had 11 players with at least two points.

Josh Daigle and Matt Prokey each had six for the Mustangs who will have their 11 seniors honored at senior night versus Sanford (6-11) after the Reporter's deadline on Thursday, Feb. 4.

Mustangs calm Red Storm

The Mustangs exploded for 27-points in a decisive second quarter to pace a fun and easy 81-39 home rout of the Scarborough Red Storm on Friday, Jan. 29.

Scarborough hung around in the first, trying to employ patience and maintain a tempo that would keep the Mustangs from running, and the result was a 16-11 Massabesic edge after one quarter.

The Red Storm managed 12 in the second, but Massabesic had a packed crowd into it and they ultimately, with 43 on the board by the half, had enough points to win already as Scarborough was held to just eight in both quarters in the second half.

Amabile had nine, on his way to a team-high 17, and Sprague-Ripley had 8 in the key second quarter.

DesVergnes (16) had 14 fourth-quarter points. Daigle finished with 11. The Mustangs, who had 10 players score, topped Scarborough 38-16 in the second half.

Massabesic (#3 seed in AA south) appears likely to face the Red Storm (#6) in the first round of the playoffs on Feb. 11 at the Expo Center in Portland.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Lady Mustangs trample Knights

The lady Mustangs led out to a 23-3 first quarter lead and never looked back en route to an easy 70-37 win over the visiting Noble Knights on Groundhog Day, Tuesday, Feb. 2.

There was never a shadow of doubt in this contest as Massabesic added seven points to their lead with a 17-10 advantage in the second and they coasted into the break up 27 at 40-13.

The Knights turned in a solid third period, but the lead still grew by two with Massabesic getting contributions from up and down their bench.

Sara Guimond had 11, Madi Drain 14 and McKenzy Ouellette (27-points in a 57-55 loss two days prior versus Portland) led with 22 as the Mustangs shot a season best 45% from the floor.

Emma Dersochers chipped in with 7, Jackie Bearse 4 and Devon Baert added 3.

“We can make a difference in our addiction crisis and in people’s lives by funding treatment and clinics that are doing this work right.”

Asked how the committee seemed to respond to the bill, Woodsome believes the majority is on board. He expects more conservative members may vote “ought not to pass,” but he believes it will get through committee and be brought before the house and senate.

“The big thing I tried to stress to the committee that I’m not just interested in handing out methadone; it needs to be strongly regulated. They’ve got to have specially trained medical staff to address all the issues these individuals are facing. Learning coping skills and handling family issues that are very complex needs to be resolved so they can go back into the work force or be a parent. A program needs very strong guidelines.”

Woodsome was pleased that no one testified against the measure at the hearing. Department of Human Services representative were neutral, not voting for or against it. “I was surprised, because a lot of the department heads in DHS are not for methadone. It is costly, and they claim they’ve spent millions without success. I ask how were the programs run? Were they highly regulated?”

Describing where his bill goes from here, Woodsome said that the committee will have a work session, where they will call medical people, law enforcement, the medical association, himself and look to define the best way to go about making this bill successful. Then, they will vote. If the committee passes on it, the bill will be brought to the Senate and the House, where it may be amended. If it passes in both, it will go to the governor, and if the governor vetoes it, a two-thirds vote in both houses will be required to override the veto.

Asked if he has a sense of Gov. LePage’s position, he believes the governor has said he supports suboxone for treatment over methadone, and he thinks Maine Department of Health and Human Services head Mary Mayhew, supports buprenorphine. Woodsome argues, “From my research, those work on low or mid level addiction. Strong addiction produces severe damage to the brain that requires methadone. Methadone helps with the pain of the craving of the heroin.”

Woodsome sees this as an educational process about the different effects on the brain of different levels of addiction. “Some say we can’t afford it, why waste the money. But I think we are paying a terrible price now. Look at the cost of addiction – in crime, to courts, to jails, to the health of addicts and to their loved ones. We can spend money with no solution or spend with some results.” And then he adds, “We need to think outside the box.”

While Gov. LePage is talking about rebuilding the correctional facility at Windham, Woodsome sees a need for more local facilities. “There are so many moving parts to recovery. It’s really important for local communities to get involved. York County shelters, food pantry, the health clinic in Springvale can all play a role. Community services from local resources, all of these can add up to success in the recovery process.”

Thinking locally, Woodsome states that there is room at the York County Jail for a treatment facility and Sheriff Bill King has a plan. “Let’s help them while they are in jail. That is a good use of money.” In countering the claim that cost is the issue that may be holding back support for this bill, he argues that localized treatment will cost less than more centralized services involving transportation costs.

He acknowledges that addiction is a hard issue for people to face and they have strong feelings about it. “It reminds me of when AIDS or mental illness comes up. Whenever someone has an issue that goes against what is acceptable, people start finger pointing, blaming, and calling it weakness. Alcoholism is now considered a medical condition that needs to be addressed. How will we think about addiction in ten or fifteen years?”

Woodsome sees the Federal Drug Administration and physicians figuring prominently in the current crisis, first for giving approval for powerful pain medications and for “Dishing them out like candy over the past ten years” leading to the development of addictions and the subsequent turn to heroin. “We need local solutions, to care for the variety of needs involved in treatment. I hate to quote Hillary on this, but it does take a village.”

OBITUARIES

Marcia K. Coffee

Marcia K. Coffee, 70, of West Newfield, died unexpectedly at her home on Jan. 26, 2016.

Marcia was born on Nov. 19, 1945 in Newton, Massachusetts the daughter of Arthur and Ruth (VanBlarcom) LeCain.

Marcia K. Coffee

Marcia was known to many by an assortment of endearing nicknames, Mike, Micky and the one she loved the most was being called Nana.

Marcia was primarily a devoted homemaker who loved to care for her son Earl and husband John, whom she married on May 29, 1970. Together, she and John enjoyed fishing and had the good fortune of traveling to Hawaii on two different occasions. They were perfectly happy to go sit and watch the locals and the sea gulls in Wells Harbor. She was an active participant in raising funds for the gazebo and park area for the concerts and plays.

Marcia enjoyed gardening and feeding the many birds in her backyard; especially the red cardinals. She liked to take day trips to the White Mountains, traveling along the Kancamagus Highway. Marcia looked forward to the family reunions at Mt. Cardigan in Canaan, New Hampshire. One of her favorite activities included stealing hugs and kisses from the grandchildren!

Marcia will be remembered for her kind and gentle nature. She shared generously with those she loved and will be dearly missed by her family and friends. Marcia was predeceased by her husband John on Nov. 7, 2013.

She is survived by her son, Earl Coffee and fiancée, Carrieanne and their two children, Gabrielle and Hunter; her two sisters, Carol Church and Leslie LeCain; her four brothers, Robert, Richard, Ray and Ron LeCain; and several stepchildren and step-grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews.

You are invited to visit with Marcia’s family on Saturday, Feb. 20 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Autumn Green Funeral Home, 47 Oak St., in Alfred.

To leave a message of condolence for the family, visit www.autumngreenfuneralhome.com.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Hope Hobbs Gazebo, Wells Harbor Community Park, C/O Town Manager, 208 Sanford Road, Wells, ME 04090.

The Autumn Green Funeral Home is respectfully handling arrangements.

David Vose Stokes

David Vose Stokes, age 67, died Jan. 11, 2016 at his home in West Dundee, Illinois. He was born on June 25, 1948 in Sanford, the son of Jarvis and Norma (Vose) Stokes.

He graduated from Sanford High School in 1966 and attended Tufts University on a full ROTC scholarship. Following graduation from Tufts in 1970, he immediately entered the US Navy and served in the Supply Corps. David served on the USS CORAL SEA and USS FORT FISHER, and lived in Coronado, CA, Alexandria, VA, Newcastle, NH and Avon Lake, OH. He worked in Naval Data Automation Command in Washington, DC and at the Navy Finance Center in Cleveland, retiring in 2003 as Commander. Following his retirement from the military, he established an ergonomic equipment business; utilizing the experience he gained working at the Finance Center. David had made his home in West Dundee since 2006.

David was a generous man and had a “larger-than-life” personality. He held fond memories of family times at Square Pond, and loved returning to Maine to have his fill of Ted’s fried clams! Following a battle with throat cancer, he found great comfort listening to music and caring for his four-legged friends, Abby and Bosco.

He is survived by his mother, Norma Stokes of Ormond Beach, FL; a son, Zachary and Angie (Airaghi) Stokes and grandsons, Ben and Sam of Olmsted Falls, OH; a brother, John H. Stokes of Derry, NH; a sister, Eileen and David Heald of Holly Hill, FL; four nieces; and three great-nephews and two great-nieces.

Should friends desire, memorial contributions may be made to Hospice Hearts (Animal Rescue) 908 East Main Street, Urbana, IL 61802.

A graveside service with full military honors will be held in later in the spring at the Southern Maine Memorial Veterans Cemetery, 83 Stanley Road, in Springvale.

The Autumn Green Funeral Home is respectfully handling arrangements, www.autumngreenfuneralhome.com.
