Roux's raw milk

BY JOANNE BARGIONI

Mike Roux, Jr., has always had an interest in cows. His father, Michael Roux, Sr., purchased the property on Walnut Hill Road in Shapleigh, now known as Roux Farm, in 1994. On the day Mike was born, his father bought him a calf and began Mike's enthusiasm for cows. Before he graduated from High School in 2014, Mike Jr. was a member of the 4-H Club for 13 years, and the Club helped prepare him to care for the cows. Since that time he has acquired 20 cows. He has Holstein, Milk and Short-horned cows. The cows have been entered in many competitions including Acton and Fryeburg and as far away as Kentucky. His favorite cow, Lazer was Overall Reserve Grand Champion in last years Fryeburg Fair.

Mike Jr. had an idea to start selling Raw Milk locally. Raw

Ten-year-old Waterboro boy gives back

Most 10-year-olds hope for presents or a super hero-themed party for their birthday. Parker Wellman, of North Waterboro, who graduated from the NICU at The Barbara Bush Children's Hospital (BBCH) nearly a decade ago, decided to be the super hero himself and donate his tenth birthday, April 21, in support of the children's hospital. Instead of asking for presents, Wellman asked his friends and family to donate to BBCH and support life-saving medical care for children in Maine.

"He was born on April 21, 2009 via emergency C-section and did not have a very positive outlook. Nearly ten years later, he's thriving, smart as a whip and his compassion and desire to help others makes my heart so very proud," says Katie Wellman, Parker's mother. "We truly believe each and every member of the BBCH team is an angel and we are excited to support any way we can."

Wellman hoped to raise as much as possible in honor of his milestone birthday, and set his fundraising goal at $1,000. To date, Wellman has raised $1,125 using the My Miracle Birthday website platform to collect donations. The website allows the birthday donor to personalize their fundraising page and share with friends and family via email or social media. According to Wellman's mother, Wellman has his sight set on someday raising

Helping To Keep Mainers In Maine.

When the mill in our town closed down, I worried my family would have to move out of Maine. A job fair led me to Poland Spring. 21 years later, I run the Poland Spring plant in Hollis.

Poland Spring contributes more than $390 million to Maine's economy and is Maine's 5th largest manufacturer, with almost 900 people working across the state. These are full-time jobs with benefits that help Mainers like me stay in the communities we grew up in.

Water is more than a sustainable resource. It sustains my family.

Tick Aware and Tick Alert

Warmer weather is on its way, which means that everyone needs to be doing their part to help prevent tickborne diseases. Providers reported over 1,400 cases of Lyme disease in 2018 (preliminary data as of 3/25/19). May is Lyme Disease Awareness Month each year in Maine—the perfect time to remind everyone to be “Tick Aware and Tick Alert” when spending time outdoors since ticks are most active in warmer weather.

Lyme disease is treatable and most individuals recover completely with proper treatment, however easiest way to avoid tickborne diseases is prevention. This May please remember to be “Tick Aware and Tick Alert”:

1. Use caution in areas where ticks may be found;
2. Wear light-colored clothing that covers arms and legs;
3. Use an EPA approved repellent such as: DEET, picaridin, IR3535, and oil of lemon eucalyptus; and
4. Perform tick checks daily and after any outdoor activity on yourself and pets. Taking a shower after exposure to a tick habitat is an effective way to wash off any unattached ticks and provides a good opportunity to do a tick check.

Lyme disease is caused by a bacterial infection that is passed through the bite of an infected deer tick. Adults over the age of 65 years and children between the ages of 5 and 15 years have the highest rates of the disease in Maine. Individuals that work and play outside are more likely to be exposed to ticks. Ticks must be attached for 24-48 hours before they can transmit the bacteria that can cause Lyme disease. Proper tick checks will allow you to find and remove ticks before getting Lyme disease.

If you are bitten by a tick or spend a lot of time outdoors, make sure to monitor for symptoms for up to 30 days after exposure. Also be sure to call your healthcare provider if symptoms develop. The most common symptom of Lyme disease is a skin lesion called erythema migrans (EM), better known as the “bull’s-eye” rash. This usually appears 3-30 days after the tick bite. Other symptoms include fever, headache, and joint or muscle pain.

Lyme disease is not the only disease that can be carried by deer ticks in Maine. Anaplasmosis, babesiosis, Borrelia miyamotoi, and Powassan are other tickborne infections found in Maine. The number of provider-reported human cases of anaplasmosis, babesiosis, and Powassan decreased in 2018 while reported cases of Borrelia miyamotoi increased slightly. All four remain a public health concern for the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention (Maine CDC).

Hyperthyroid Disease in Cats

Hyperthyroidism is a commonly diagnosed disease in older cats. Cats with hyperthyroid disease have an overproduction of thyroid hormone. Cats with untreated/undiagnosed hyperthyroidism can end up with damage to organs such as the heart and kidneys, it also can result in high blood pressure also known as hypertension.

Cats suffering from this are typically geriatric cats. Some signs commonly seen with a hyperthyroid cat are a ravenous appetite, weight loss (despite increased food consumption), increased drinking, increased urination, yowling/vocalization, diarrhea, and intermittent vomiting.

Examination by a veterinarian can help to determine if this disease is to be considered. Many hyperthyroid cats have a palpable thyroid and irregular heart beat that are not typical of a normal healthy cat.

Diagnosing this disease usually starts with a blood test to measure thyroid hormone levels called a T4. In some instance a confirmation test needs to be done in conjunction with a T4. It is advised to also check organ function to determine if the kidneys are affected.

Treatment options include radioactive iodine, oral medications, special prescription diet, and surgery. Many cats can maintain their health when treated appropriately.

Bulldogs bounced by Mustangs 9-3 Houk, Antrim pace win

By MICHAEL DEANGELIS
Sports Editor
news@waterbororeporter.com

Emily Antrim

Paige Houk had a perfect day, going 4-4 with two RBI, a run scored and a stolen base, and Emily Antrim went the distance for the win, 9-3, over host Portland on Wednesday, May 1.

The Mustangs (5-1) got all the runs they'd need in the first when they played five on the strength of six hits. Grace Tutt started it with a single and raced to third after a sac-bunt from Emily Morin. Julia Gregoire knocked in Tutt with a sharp single and she easily trotted home when Lauren Kiss lined a triple to make it 2-0. Emily Davison delivered Kiss with a single and Hailey Caswell (3-4, RBI, 2R, 2B) drove home Davison with what ended up being the winning run with a gap-shot double. Houk kept the hit parade going with an RBI single and it was 5-0 before the Bulldogs came to bat.

Antrim stranded two runners in the first, with help from a nice two-out catch in right field from Houk, and she settled in nicely over the next three innings before getting knicked for a run in the fourth.

Massabesic got four more runs in the third. Davison, Caswell, Antrim and Houk banged four consecutive singles with one down to add three runs and Tutt picked up a two-out RBI to make it 9-0.

The Bulldogs got a pair of runs in the fifth to cut it to 9-3, but Antrim finished strong, retiring seven of the last eight with four via strikeout. She fanned nine overall, walked just one and gave up eight hits.

fanning three in relief.

Massabesic will face South Portland at home on Friday, May 3 at 4 p.m.

Mustangs top Marshwood 24-12

They trailed 7-0 after two innings. They trailed 8-1 after four and 11-4 after five innings. None of the early results mattered because the offense for the Mustangs' softball squad plated 20 runs over the next four innings to post a galvanizing 24-12 triumph over host Marshwood on April 25.

A six-run sixth inning gave them a chance: Catcher Emily Morin got the frame going with a walk and Julia Gregoire got Massabesic two quick runs with a homer to center field. Lauren Kiss, who collected four hits and scored four times, reignited the rally with a hard single. Emily Davison, Hailey Caswell and Zoey DeAngelis all followed with singles of their own and suddenly the score was 11-7.

Ashley Day got a run home with a groundout and moved Caswell and DeAngelis into scoring position before Grace Tutt delivered a huge two-run, two-out, single that made it 11-10.

The Hawks added a run in the bottom of the sixth to push it to 12-10, giving the Mustangs just one more at-bat to tie it.

Gregoire opened the 7th with a walk and Kiss reached on an error that moved Gregoire to third. A wild pitch got Gregoire in and Kiss moved around to third, representing the tying run. Caswell got Kiss in with a groundout and the game headed to extra frames tied 12-12.

In the top of the 9th, Massabesic sent 16 batters to the plate, knocked nine hits and scored 12 runs.

Caswell started it with a single and DeAngelis walked. Grant singled with one out to load the bases and Tutt got a run in with single of her own. Morin reached on an error to reload the bases and Gregoire plated two with her third hit of the contest to make it 16-12. Kiss, Davison and Caswell all dropped in hits following Morin and the lead ballooned to 19-12. Massabesic added five more to complete the comeback, which featured five RBI from Tutt, four from Gregoire, three from Caswell and two from DeAngelis (4-5, 2RBI, 3R, 2SB).

Gregoire and Kiss each scored four times. Caswell, Davison, DeAngelis and Morin each scored three times and Grant and Tutt each crossed the plate twice.

LACROSSE

LAX ladies start 2-0

Massabesic scored three goals in the last three minutes to overcome a 9-7 deficit and lift them to clutch 10-9 win over host Yarmouth on a wet and chilly Friday, April 26. Skylar Renaud kept the Mustangs in the game early, scoring twice in the first half and early in the second to cut the lead to 4-3. Micaela Jacobs tied it with just two minutes played, but the Yachtsmen got the next three goals to regain the lead at 7-4.

Renaud then scored twice in a 33 second span to get the Mustangs within a goal, but Yarmouth responded with 10 minutes left in the contest and Massabesic again trailed, now at 8-6. The teams traded goals over the next few minutes and the scoreboard showed 3:40 left with Yarmouth leading 9-7.

Kenzy Ouellette collected a loose ball, fed Renaud off the ensuing face-off and it was quickly

9-8 with 3:09 left. Cailyn Forrester tied it at 9-9 after a scramble in front with 81 seconds remaining and Massabesic completed the comeback 30 seconds later when the Jacobs' sisters hooked up, Micaela feeding Emily, for a huge winning goal.

Katie Castle made eight saves in goal for Massabesic.

On April 24, Massabesic got goals from seven different players, pacing an easy 13-2 opening night win over visiting Thornton Academy. Emily Jacobs had two goals in the first half and two in the second helping the Mustangs race to a 6-1 lead before five minutes had elapsed in the second half.

Skylar Renaud, Kenzy Ouellette and Cailyn Forrester each scored twice and Micaela Jacobs, Brianna Stephenson and Makena Roy each scored once.

Syeira New won each of the four events she participated in, helping the Mustangs' Track & Field squad to a third place finish on Tuesday, Apr 30 in Biddeford. New won the 200-meter-dash with a 28.42 and she blew the field away in the 100-hurdles (16.84) and the 300-hurdles (16.84) before leaping over 16' to win the long jump as well. Kara Galbraith was runner-up to teammate New in both hurdles' events. Kylie Johnson won the 800 and she finished second in the 1600.

Jeffery Waters won the 1600 with a 4:41.12 and he was runner-up in the 3200. Garrett Gerard won the 1600-race-walk with a 9:17.09. The Mustang men finished fourth overall.

Mustangs top Sanford 13-1

The bats stayed hot for the Mustangs (4-1) softball squad on Monday, Apr. 29 with a 13-run outburst over visiting Sanford.

Grace Tutt walked to open the bottom of the first and promptly stole second base. Emily Morin (4-4, 4RBI, R, SF) supplied Massabesic with all the scoring they'd need when she knocked in Tutt with a single and then trotted home on a double by Julia Gregoire to make it 2-0.

The Mustangs added two more in the second: Zoey DeAngelis walked to start the frame and she raced all the way around to third after Marissa Goodwin dropped down an excellent sac-bunt. Paige Houk drove DeAngelis in with a groundout to make it 3-0 and the Mustangs got another run after Morin again knocked in Tutt with her second hit.

The Spartans got a run in the third to close to 4-1, but the Mustangs, like they've done in just about every game this season, were primed for a huge inning and this time it came in the third when they sent 14 batters to the plate, banged out seven hits and scored eight runs.

Lauren Kiss scorched a double to left to open it. Emily Davison reached on a two-base error, and both runners scored on consecutive passed balls to make it 6-1. Hailey Caswell banged a double to right-center to get things going again and she moved to third on a wild pitch before DeAngelis, who later was drilled by a pitch for the third time in just 19 plate appearances on the season, again walked.

Houk delivered both runners with a sharp single and later made a nifty play in right field, gunning down a would-be base runner at first after she snared a hard one-hopper.

Massabesic got three more runs in the inning highlighted by another homer from Gregoire (4.1IP, ER, 5H, 3K, BB) who got the win. Emily Antrim got the final five outs,

RAW MILK

Milk is unpasteurized milk. Pasteurized milk is raw milk that has been heated to a specified temperature and time to kill bacteria which may be found in raw milk. The benefits of raw milk over pasteurized milk is it has a better flavor. "Slightly thicker, creamier milk," states Mike. He goes on to say "it has better nutritional value and helpful bacteria."

"Every month an inspector from the State of Maine tests the cows for butterfat content and to make sure they are healthy. "Our cows are tested more than some farms who are selling pasteurized milk," remarked Mike. His goal is to have people try it and make up their own minds as to which type of milk they prefer.

Every morning the cows are milked by his father. According to Mike the cows like to be milked. At milking time the cows leave the barn area and form a line at the automatic milking stations. The cows will first have a small amount of milk extracted by hand to see if there are any signs of infection. If the milk passes inspection they are hooked up to the milking machine and the milk is sent to a vat which cools the milk down to 37 degrees. It is kept at this temperature until it is sold.

Mike's mother, Selectman Jennifer Roux, proclaims the the "benefits of raw milk are phenomenal." Both of Mike's parents say that they are very proud of the work their son has put into this endeavor. It took a lot of hard work to run a farm and for him to get where he is. The market for raw milk is improving.

You can purchase Roux's Farm Raw Milk at: One Earth Natural Food Store and Lil Farm Bakery, both in Shapleigh; Jerry's Market in Sanford; Allard's Market in North Berwick; and 7-Eleven in Springvale.

Three cub scouts cross over

Members of the Limerick Troop 329 and Shapleigh Troop 320 gathered on Sunday, April 28 at Scouts Island in Limerick to celebrate the crossover of three members of the Limerick Cub Scouts. Savannah Thyng and Madison Poole will crossover to Troop #329; and Donte Rodriguez will crossover to Troop #320. Thirteen scouts attended the crossover ceremony.

Scouts started off the celebration by reciting the Pledge of Allegiance and Scout Law as part of their opening ceremony.

The Arrow of Light den leader Josh Thyng, addressed his den members and their friends and families. He stated that, "These kids have been working hard since September and have been on multiple camp outs and have really come together. They learned to work as a team. They know their strengths and weaknesses. I believe that they are going to do great and bring a lot to the table with their new troops." He then presented his den with their final rank as cub scouts.

Scouts have to pass several requirements in order to be eligible to cross over to the troop, according to assistant scout leader Stephanni Thyng. They must be at least 11 years old, have been involved with the Webelos den for at least six consecutive months, earn at least 5 activity badges and show their knowledge of what it takes to becoming a scout and attend a troop event or meeting.

The Arrow of Lights, AOL's, were then canoed in by members of the troop and were each individually called up for their crossover where they were presented with new neckerchiefs inducting them into the troop.

As one of the first troops in Maine to accept girls, Limerick's Troop 329 girl patrol grew even larger, adding Savannah Thyng and Madison Poole. When asked why they chose to be a part of Scouting BSA, Savannah's answer was simple, "It's a lot of fun, we're really involved, and I love to go camping!" Donte Rodriguez also crossed over and became a member of Shapleigh's Troop 320 to be able to spend time and make memories with his family members who are already involved.

If anyone is interested in joining the Cub Scouts, please contact them at: limerickpack329@gmail.com. The last meeting for the season will be on May 20, and they will resume their meetings in the fall on Monday, Sept. 9. They meet at the Line School on Mondays at 6 p.m.

Scouting is a great way to get outside, get active and make memories. It builds character, provides lifelong learning and gives young people the skills to be successful through all stages of life. If you or someone you know is interested in joining, contact the troop at: lmt@securespeed.us or jdion@roadrunner.com.

"Learn to camp responsibly and well and you will soon agree with what those before you have always known—that camping is Scouting at its very best."
